HOW HEALTHINFONET CAN HELP

PRIMARY CARE ORGANIZATIONS

IN THEIR CLINICAL WORKFLOWS

Primary care serves as individuals' first stop for healthcare services. That's why HealthInfoNet provides curated tools and information designed to help inform primary care teams' assessments, treatments, and decision-making abilities to make the most of their patients' visits.

OVERVIEW

Primary care recognizes that the status of a person's health is more than just the sum of their clinical encounters. People aren't just seen as "patients" – they're family members and friends, neighbors and community advocates, colleagues and caregivers. At HealthInfoNet, we believe that transparency into a person's comprehensive care is critical to effectively manage and improve their risks and outcomes. Our services help primary care teams empower their patients, build informed care plans, and establish timely communication – all with the hope of helping improve persons' health, wellness, and wellbeing.

> Connect to diverse systems of care.
> Become a part of an ever-growing network of HIE participants to gain invaluable insights into patient care activities throughout the state.

> Empower patients in their healthcare.
> Obtain the information you need about your patients to help them make the right decisions about their use of primary care services.

> HealthInfoNet is, and always has been, a great tool in our arsenal to get as much information as possible about our patients.
>
> We are constantly pulling information from HealthInfoNet to help our providers make informed decisions in their patients' care.
